SULZER'S STATEMENT

New York Congressman Will Not Be Bound by Caucus Relative to Naval Matters.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, July 26.—The senate's unexpected passage of the La Follette wool bill presents a situation upon which majority leader Underwood of the house thinks the two branches of Congress can agree.

Mr. Underwood also chairman of house ways and means committee today says he thought there would be little difficulty in reaching a compromise. In this case a bill almost identical with the one President Taft vetoed Aug. 17, 1911, is again likely to go to the White House within a few weeks.

The former bill was vetoed on the ground that the tariff board had not reported on its investigation of schedule "K". Leaders of both houses say the La Follette bill follows the conclusions of the board quite closely. Mr. Underwood today said he would call the ways and means committee together next week to take up the wool bill.

Chairman Sulzer, of the house committee on foreign affairs has written to Chairman Burleson, of the house democratic caucus declaring his intention to vote for a battleship program regardless of the caucus which declared for no ships this year.

"I have told Mr. Burleson that whenever my vote is directed by constitutional and patriotic motives I will not be bound by a scant majority in the caucus," said Mr. Sulzer today.

Mr. Sulzer declared 25 to 30 democrats who participated in the last caucus were ready to vote for one or more battleships.

Democratic senators in caucus today determined to support the house excise bill virtually levying an income tax on all persons and co-partnerships doing business of more than $5,000 a year and to reject the Borah income tax bill offered as an amendment. There was some opposition to his course.

At the White House today some of President Taft's callers predicted he would veto if the wool bill came to him in the form which it left the senate, which substantially is the same bill as was vetoed last year. Mr. Taft as yet has had no conference with the republican leaders about the bill.

Representative Rodenberg, republican of Illinois, made a political speech in the house today attacking Gov. Wilson. Mr. Rodenberg quoted long extracts from Gov. Wilson's "History of the American People," in which the writer referred to Thomas Jefferson as "an aristocrat who deliberately practiced the arts of a politician" and said that "Washington found him a guide who needed watching."

PRAISES PRACTICAL
ENDS OF EDUCATIONSuperintendent Cary in Address to Summer Students Warns Against Possible Dangers, However.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., July 26.—State Superintendent C. P. Cary lauded the practical ends of education as its best justification, in an address to the students at the summer session of the University of Wisconsin this morning. He said in part:

"What are the ideals of education in a democracy? First, that everybody shall have the opportunity for an education to the extent that he is capable of receiving education profitably. Second, that part of his education shall have reference particularly to his unique personal gifts or natural capabilities. Third, that he shall, at any time, find it possible to supplement the education that comes from following an occupation by competent instruction in the principles of the practice or art involved in his occupation. In other words, the ideal is to educate all the people all the time by one means or another, and that the education shall be in the direction of the most efficient citizenship."

"It is a mistake to think we educate for industry as an end in itself. The ends we seek in education, even vocational education, are intelligence, insight, knowledge of organized society, skill, joy in work that has human significance. Anything short of such high ends means the exploitation of the individual in the interest of sordid gain. It is to make of the workman a cunning, self-adjusting, human machine. Society does not want merely man's hands, no matter how dextrous and skilful they may be; but it does, in addition to his skill, want the product of his brain, his unique contribution whatever it may be, that he is inherently capable of giving. Adaptability, so necessary in our changing industries, is the result of intelligence and insight."

"Democratic education must consciously aid young people in discovering their latent powers, and in finding the work which will be to them a joy and an inspiration. This cannot be done by confining our education to the traditional subjects, heretofore found in our courses of study. Education must reach out into the active world and seize upon its activities, reduce them to educational form and utilize them for purposes of instruction. In this way schools will give motive to their work, both pupils and parents will readily see the great and enduring value of such an education. * * * We can never get away from the teaching of the school arts, reading, writing, ciphering and the like, but such things must not occupy, in the future, the time of the student to the exclusion of all preparation for active life in the world."

GOVERNMENT PARTY
NEARLY DEFEATEDSnap Division in English House Of Commons Nearly Resulted in Victory
For Opposition.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, July 26.—The British government was nearly turned out of office by a snap division in the house of commons this afternoon, the small margin of three votes saving it from defeat.

In the presence of the usual thin Friday attendance of members, David Lloyd-George, chancellor of the exchequer, moved that Monday be devoted to the discussion of the supplementary appointments. The opposition protected and forced a division. By dint of a hurried search in the lobbies of the house the government whips just managed to save the situation.

The announcement that the government had been successful by 135 against 133 votes was greeted by the opposition with loud cries of "no sign." The liberal members recently have been somewhat slack in their attendance and the government majority on several occasions has for this reason been below 50.

Pasqual Orozco, commander-in-chief of the Mexican revolutionists, is confronted with a curious problem, if he does not hasten his long delayed evacuation of the border he may be unable to evacuate with other than himself and staff officers. His army here is rapidly dwindling.

There is a steady desertion of soldiers who lay aside the rifle to accept a section's hand shovel on an American railway.

ROOSEVELT ATTACKS
DEMOCRATS ATTITUDESays Members of Congress Do Wrong
In Refusing To Build New Warships.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oyster Bay, July 26.—An attack on the democratic majority in the house of representatives for refusing to adopt two battleship programs was made today by Col. Roosevelt. He declared that the upbuilding of the navy must go on if this country is to maintain its position among the nations of the world.

When the democrats vote down the battleships," he said, "if they are logical they should also vote to abandon the Panama canal. It was an outrage from the standpoint of the national honor and interest to go on with the Panama canal unless we both fortify it and keep up an adequate navy."

"Furthermore any talk as to what we intend to do about the Monroe Doctrine, the Panama canal, the protection of Hawaii or in any other matter is not merely offensive but contemptible, for we abandon building up the navy and show that we really have neither the power nor the will, if the need should ever come to make our words good."

Chicago, July 26.—Col. Roosevelt in a telegram to Medill McCormick today sent a message to the Illinois progressives in which he congratulated them on the outlook on the eve of their state convention.

GIDEONS' NATIONAL CONVENTION OPENEDNearly One Thousand Members of

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Atlanta, Ga., July 26.—"If you belong to Gideon's band," your proper place is in Atlanta today. Nearly 1,000 only a fraction of the total number of Gideons, are here. The major portion are busy selling goods over the north, east, south and west and wishing they were in Atlanta.

The Gideons are members of the Christian Traveling Men's Association of America, and this is their annual international convention. The opening session, which was held this morning in the assembly room of the Piedmont hotel, was devoted to reports from National Secretary Nicholson and other officers and state superintendents of the association. These reports showed gratifying progress during the past year, especially in the great mission undertaken by the Gideons of placing a Bible in every guest room of every hotel throughout the United States and Canada. At the present time, according to the reports, the work is being continued at the rate of about 5,000 Bibles a month.

RED ARMY RETREATS
BEFORE OPPONENTSHas Changed Tactics And Assumed
Defensive in Sham Warfare On Army Reservation.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Camp Douglas, July 26.—As a result of the blue advance the red army has now changed its tactics from offensive to defensive. In order to protect its retreat and make the advance of the blues more difficult the reds yesterday destroyed three towns and a railroad, thereby cutting off the railroad communication of the blues towards the west, where the reds are operating.

Red cavalry assisted by artillery infantry battered and destroyed Valley Junction after a nine miles advance. Wyville and Oakdale also were destroyed and 100 yards of railroad south of Wyville were blown up by the reds in their retreat. On account of the capture of two red outposts of cavalry yesterday by the blue cavalry many of the same incidents were looked for today. The blues were supposed to have advanced in the direction of the reds and to have encountered more outposts and patrols.

When the men of both camps arose this morning rapid work was done to get the forces out of camp and on the march.

Accused of Drunkenness.
Chicago, July 26.—War department officials may be called on to investigate reports published here that members of the Illinois and Wisconsin national guard and of the regular army gathered at Camp Douglas, Wis., to take part in maneuvers for which congress appropriates money, engaged in a drunken orgy a few hours before the start of the campaign. It is alleged that officers in charge made no efforts to put an end to the debauchery.

Insults to women, street brawls and soldiers in a stupor on sidewalks or falling into gutters are alleged to have made the opening of the campaign a mockery.

The men of the "red" army are not accused. They were 15 miles away, Denies Knowledge.

Milwaukee, July 26.—Gov. McGovern today denied any knowledge of alleged conditions of the debauchery among the soldiers of the regular and national guard troops at Camp Douglas.

Investigation Ordered.
Chicago, July 26.—Officials of the United States department of war in Chicago ordered a searching investigation today of conditions existing at Camp Douglas, Wis. It has been charged by some spectators of the army maneuvers that soldiers of both the regular army and national guard have been engaged in a drunken brawl for two days in the town at Douglas and that women have been insulted and attacked.PHYSICIANS REPORT
MIKADO IS FAILING
VERY RAPIDLY NOW

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Tokio, July 26.—A remarkable lurch prevailed over this city this morning. Even during the business hours of the day almost the only sounds heard was the occasional cry of the newspaper boys selling extra editions. Outside the palace in the extreme heat of mid day the crowd waited for news of his Majesty's condition.

Prince Arinatonu Yamagata, president of the privy council, Marquis Kimochi Suionji, the premier, and Count Chiaki Watanabe, minister of the imperial household, held a conference today, during which they made preparation for eventualities. The crown prince after a long stay in the imperial sick room returned to his residence.

The condition of Mutsuhito, Emperor of Japan was today regarded by those in immediate attendance as extremely grave. The physicians have issued only one bulletin up to two o'clock this afternoon and that announced no change which is regarded as ominous.

The nature of his Majesty's malady which is indicated as acute nephritis complicated with uremic poisoning and which began to cause serious alarm about July 19, has prevented the patient taking sufficient nourishment and he has continually become weaker.

The bulletins have hitherto maintained a hopeful tone and it was hoped that his Majesty would rally again. But instead he appears to have suffered a relapse and it is feared that his heart cannot stand the strain.

The suspension at the capital has been intense since the regular bulletin issued at noon showed that the condition of Mutsuhito the Japanese emperor had become worse. It is evident his Majesty's condition is extremely grave.

ARE CONFIDENT NOW
OF SOLVING MURDERArrest of Man Supposed to be "Dago Frank" Sheds Hopeful Light on Rosenthal Mystery.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, July 26.—The solution of the intricate plot that brought to his death that he might not tell more secrets of relations between police and gamblers, is near at hand. That is the belief today of Deputy Police Commissioner Dougherty, who prepared to give the third degree to Frank Cirofici who the commissioner says, is "Dago Frank" one of the slayers of Rosenthal. Cirofici was taken into custody late last night along with his "girl" Rose Harris and a man named Abraham Lewis. Cirofici had two suitcases packed ready for traveling. All had been smoking Cirofici mumbled he knew nothing about the shooting.

The confession of William F. Shapiro the chauffeur of the "murder car" has supplied Commissioner Dougherty and District Attorney Whitman with many missing pieces of evidence. Commenting on the progress made Mr. Whitman said: "I am certain now that every man that had a part in the slaughter of Herman Rosenthal will be brought to justice."

The public prosecutor says he has smashed the alibis of "Bald Jack" Roach of "Bridge" Weber, and of Harry Vallon. The investigation by the grand jury into the relations between gamblers and the police is proving more than satisfactory to District Attorney Whitman.

Later Lieut. Costigan in the presence of police commissioner Waldo publicly denied that he had made statements to the grand jury that gambling houses could not remain open without police protection and that the gambling squad only took orders from commissioner Waldo.

LITTLE EXPENSE TO CO-OPERATIVE PLANFurther Details of Proposed Socialistic Plan Which is Called Application of Wisconsin Idea.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., July 26.—Under the proposed plan for the co-operative development of northern Wisconsin land under the state's supervision, for which Gov. McGovern has named an investigating committee, the expense of administration is expected to be very small. It is expected that a third car profit will accrue for the benefit of the communal fund, which is to finance common improvements.

Besides the land, there will be revenue from the store and other co-operative activities, according to the plans already worked out, so that it is believed that within ten years the communal fund in a colony of 25,000 acres will amount to $250,000. Under the plan proposed, a quarter of a million dollars will be invested in co-operatively-owned property, backing up university extension and state aid to agriculture, in the space of about a government township. The money will come in slowly, and it will tax the skill of the colonists to get along the first year or two, but it is pointed out that the scheme affords a basis for community credit, and with public men and political platforms demanding public loans to farmers, it is believed it should not be impossible to put banking credit back of a colony whose fiscal affairs are controlled by a state commission.

Another of the startling features of this plan is that the country is to own the town. A village is to be laid out, but it is to be the property of the rural colonists. Whether they sell or lease, or develop it with their communal funds will be for the people to decide. But whatever they do, it is to be theirs and the income will be for the common good.

Albert L. Williams, the author of the plan, said today:

"I plan no capital stock for any of these features, nothing that will make two classes, stockholders, and non stockholders, in our community. If I am right, there something very close to the ideal lies near at hand. Not alone as a solution of the land question, but of all those problems that involve a right relationship between the individual and society in an agricultural community. Not the 'patent nostrum' of any political heresy, but a mere application of the Wisconsin Idea, a square deal to the colonist. It will not do to compare this plan with that of any of the model cities or communal settlements that have been devised and passed away for in this there is no religious basis, no interference with the alio character of titles, no interruption of normal domestic life. Each will build his own home and till his own soil, but one shall not build and another inhabit, sow and another reap."

When found the trio had been without shelter during the night and all were hungry. They were given a meal at the jail and then a patrolman escorted them to the railroad track. The Precise Meaning of and Cause for Cut Prices and Clearance SalesBy J. R. HAMILTON.
Former Advertising Manager
Wanamaker's, Philadelphia.

When you see a suit of clothes marked down say from $30 to $22.50, you generally assume that the merchant was overstocked. But when you see a cut price on a diamond or a dining chair or any other staple article less responsible for its sale to style, you are apt to question the legitimacy of that sale.

Therefore, the following facts, which will be A. B. C. to every buyer and merchant, will probably be interesting news to you.

Aside from the store that merely lies about its prices and the store that cuts the figures on some trivial article as a bait, there are four contributing causes for a cut price.

The cause which most people already understand, of course is too much stock. No buyer can tell just what pattern of a suit or dress or what color in a fabric is going to be most popular. So when it is found that any article is not eagerly bought, it is quickly reduced in price. The reason for this is too evident to dwell upon.

The second cause is the financial one. Every merchant allows himself and each of his buyers just so much money for every stock of goods carried. For example, a Shoe Department which is allowed $30,000 upon which to do business, must do business on that much capital. The Shoe Buyer must be in the market for new goods at certain

NEW YARDS PLANNED FOR ST. PAUL ROAD

Mile And A Half of Track For Additional Switching Facilities To Be Laid Near Old Freight House.

Additional yard facilities for switching cars for the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railroad in this city, have been ordered by officials of the road and work in laying over a mile and a half of new tracks will commence soon. Orders were given the roadmaster of the Mineral Point division to lay over seven thousand feet of tracks immediately, and the material necessary has been ordered. As soon as the material comes the work will be started and rushed to completion.

The cramped conditions of the present yards of the company in this city, the large increase in the local business of the road in this city, it is said, have made the new track necessary. The new switching tracks will be laid near the Hanson Furniture company's plant, and the old freight house. At present there is a passing track with a capacity of about thirty cars.

The proposed work will necessitate the moving of the old freight house some distance to the west, and considerable grading work will have to be done. The new tracks will mean the expenditure of a large amount of money by the railroad in this city.

Superintendent Resigns. L. R. Clausen of Chicago, superintendent of the Chicago & Milwaukee division of the road, has resigned his position to give up railroad work. Mr. Clausen has been with the St. Paul railroad for a number of years, and previous to the time he took his present position, was superintendent of the Mineral Point division. Mr. Clausen is well known among railroad men of the country. It is understood he has resigned in order to become general manager of the Deere & Mansur Plow company's plant at Moline, Ill., at a salary of $10,000 per year. Mr. Clausen's successor has not been named.

SOLDIER BOYS GET NEW STYLE OF SHOE

Here is the new pattern of shoes that has just been adopted for the use of the army. They are scientifically constructed and are calculated to be a great improvement on the old style. The chief feature is the breadth of the toe. This is done to allow each toe to assume its natural position and to keep them from being together with the final result of a foot deformity.

Knockout Brown announces that he wants nothing more to do with number 13. Why. It's his jinx. Listen. He moved to No. 13 West End avenue, Rockway, New York, May 13, and 13 days later he was bested in his bout with Leach Cross, all because the carpets in the 13-roomed cottage, so Manager Danny Brown said, had slowed him up on his feet. Saturday, July 13, Brown narrowly escaped death in a fatal automobile smash. If any individual should hereafter suggest, that Brown fool any longer with the number 13, that person will probably receive 13 swift punches and sound advice to mind his own business.

The Chicago Cubs aren't hitting the ball as much as usual this year. There are 34 hitters of .300 caliber in the National league at this writing, and Chicago can boast of but one of them—Eddie Zimmerman. (As a team the Cubs bat .273.)

It is announced in New York that the members of the American Olympic games committee plan to start a so-called "National Olympic association" on their return to this side. Its aim will be to promote interest in track and field competition to keep the leaders informed as to where promising material may be found.

The idea strikes us as a fine one. Our friends across the water are beginning to organize. If we want to beat them again four years hence, the time to begin getting ready is now.

Maurice E. McLaghlin, the famous tennis player from the Pacific coast, who is now in the east, seems to be playing a better game this year than ever. He is in excellent condition, and his game appears more finished, swifter and more deadly. His service particularly seems to have improved, for in place of the effort to get an enormous break on the ball he now gets more pace and yet break enough to deceive, and is more accurate. He isn't netting the balls as he did last season, and his bounding activity is more impressive than ever.

The American League seems to have a monopoly on the fastest men on bases in organized baseball. Who can compare with Clyde Milan, of the Washington Nationals? With Eddie Collins, of the Philadelphia Athletics? With Ty Cobb, of the Detroit Tigers? The only man outside of the American league who travels in their class is Bobbie Bescher, of the Cincinnati Reds. Bescher has stolen thirty bases in seventy-five games, while Cobb has performed a similar feat. Milan has stolen forty-five bases in eighty-six games and Collins thirty-three bases in eighty-four games. No other players in organized baseball this season can show as good a record.

Here let us pause to remark that Milan is a brighter star in baseball than most folks imagine. He is a victim of circumstances. His great natural ability would have been recognized long ago had he been playing with a first-rate team. The limelight doesn't often stream on a poor club, and for that reason Milan has been compelled to stick around in the gloom. Washington's great sport this season has attracted the attention of fandom to that team, and this accounts for Milan's discovery.

HAS HARD LUCK ON RETURN TO MAJORS

Harry Krause.

The career of Harry Krause for the second time in the American league didn't start out very auspiciously the other day. Krause, it will be remembered, was formerly with the Philadelphia Athletics, then with the Toledo team in the American association. Cleveland got him quite recently and used him for the first time in a game against the Boston Red Sox. Krause was driven from the mound in the middle of the game. He showed poor form, and was also handicapped by weak support.

HE WAS NOT DRUNK; MERELY IN A HURRY

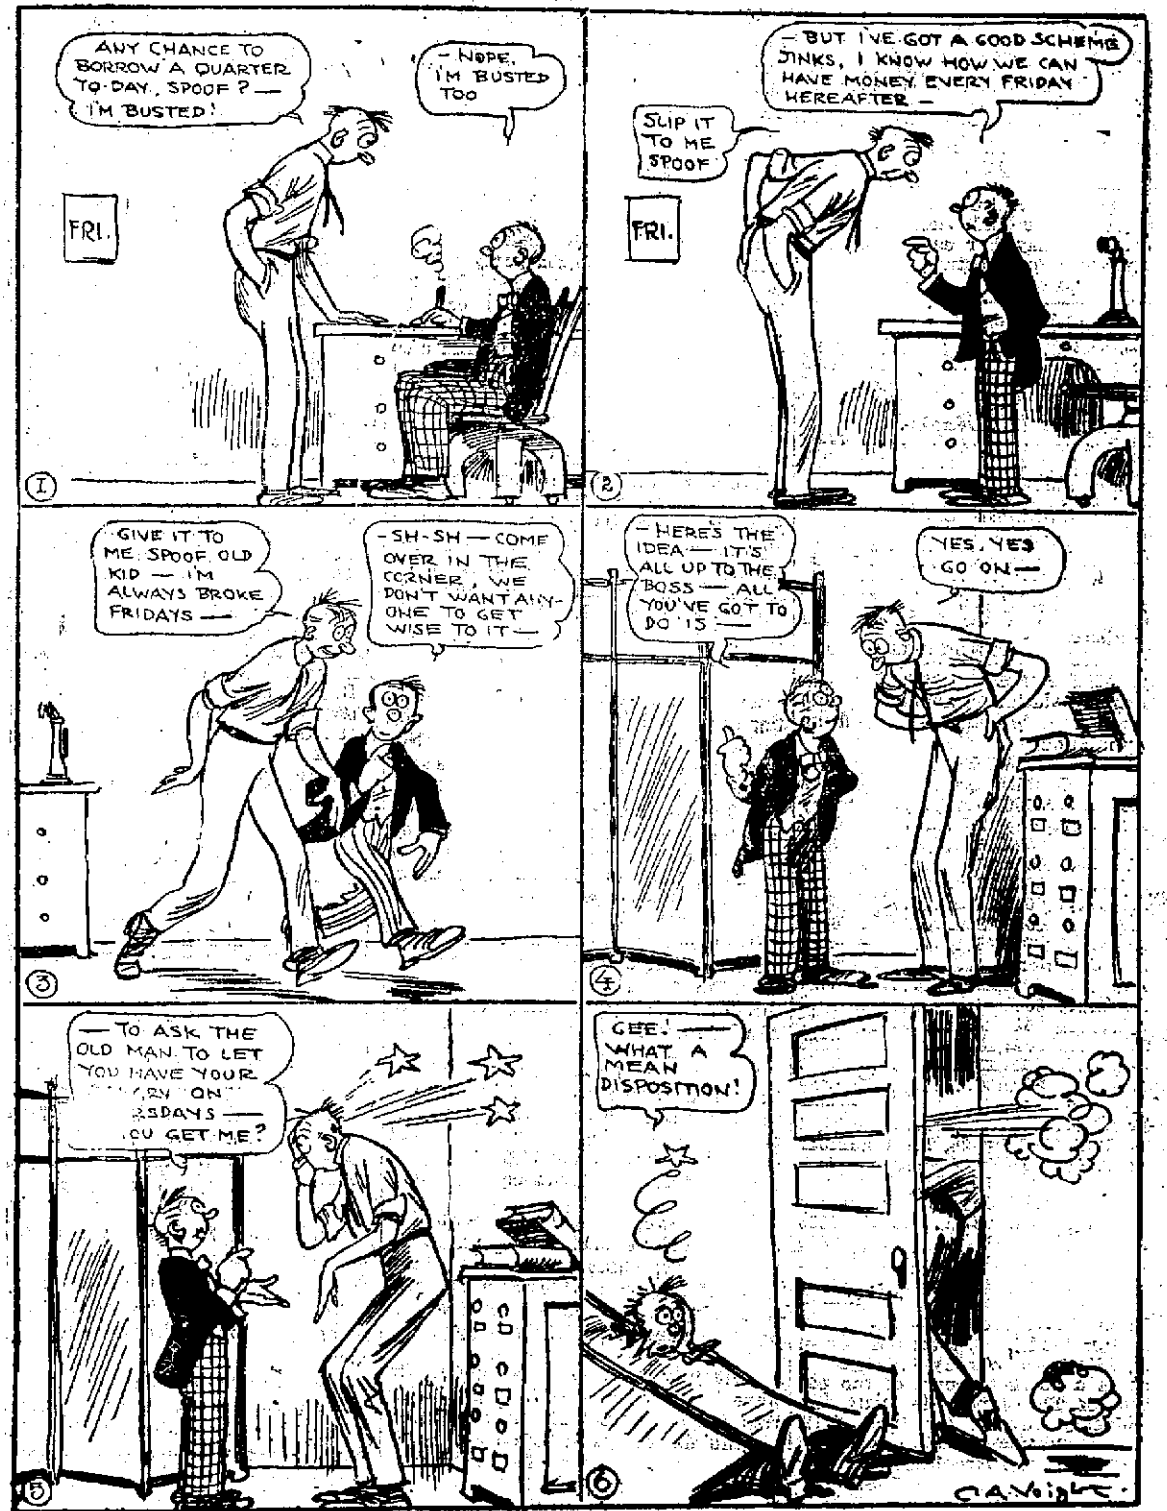

Robert Courtney Who Jumped Out Of Window Half Dressed To Avoid Arrest Explains Situation To Court.

"I was not drunk; I was only in a hurry," said Robert Courtney, arraigned on a charge of drunkenness in the municipal court this morning, when asked to account for his act of jumping out of a second story window clad in little more than a shirt and slippers when the police came to put him under arrest.

Courtney went on to say that he had only drunk two glasses of beer and having done no wrong did not want to be arrested. The police had scared him out of his bed. He admitted quarreling with his wife, who as custodian of the household funds refused to give him money to pay the house rent. Later he changed his plea to guilty, saying it would be no use for him to maintain his innocence if the officers and those who made the complaint were going to swear that he was drunk. In default of payment of a fine of $5 and costs he was sentenced to ten days imprisonment in the county jail.

John ("Baldy") Jackson showed his familiar face in the court-room this morning quite the worse, not for wear, but for an accident. He was brought to the office of Dr. Mills last evening with a bad cut in his upper lip, said to have been caused by his falling flat upon his face off the end of a side-walk. Jackson did not hesitate to admit that he had been drunk. He did not remember how he was hurt or how he came to the doctor's office, and said he did not regain consciousness until the doctor began to sew up his lip.

John Ryan, a stranger in court, who claimed to have come here from Elroy where he worked on a farm, also admitted becoming intoxicated. Sentenced on Jackson and Ryan was suspended on condition that they go to work for a farmer who had asked for their services.

SOCIETY GIRL HAS MARRIAGE ANNULLED

FRIDAY

Ancient Italian City. Asolo, which inspired two of Browning's verses in "Asolando," and which is observing the centenary, is a fortified town in Treviso, in northern Italy. It was the ancient Aclum, and possesses a cathedral and a ruined aqueduct. The former palace of Catharine Cornaro, queen of Cyprus, is in the neighborhood. There are beautiful seats in the vicinity, and the town has a population of under 6,000.—London Globe.

Mrs. William H. Anderson.

Scarcely more than five months ago Lieut. William H. Anderson, an Ohio man in the United States army, and Miss Ada Louise Armstrong, a popular society girl of San Francisco, were wed. Apparently everything went beautifully until the middle of May, when Mrs. Anderson, who is only 13, went home to live with her mother. Early in July she filed annulment proceedings in a San Francisco court. When the case came up for hearing, recently the lieutenant did not appear. Mrs. Anderson testified that her husband was ill at the time of the marriage and should not have allowed it to take place. Mrs. Anderson told the court that she had been his wife in name only. She was granted a decree.

INDS MOURNING IN TENNIS AT NEWPORT.

Miss Edith Deacon.

Miss Edith Deacon, Boston, and formerly of Newport, has at last thrown off the cloak of seclusion in which she has hidden since the death of her fiancé, George Lee Peabody, nearly two years ago. She appeared on the tennis courts at Newport recently to give battle to Mrs. J. Gordon Douglas. Although Miss Deacon put up a splendid game, she was defeated.

The Wedding Ring.

The wedding ring is of foremost interest to the groom and a new wedding ring is to be had, called the "alliance ring." This appears to be one solid ring, but is actually two, the joints being invisible, and whenever engraved, the ring is separated by inserting a pin in the inside pinhole, which separates the ring and the marriage is done on the inside surface.

THIS NEW YORK COW TURNS FISHERMAN

Seth Dalton, a farmer at Sackett Lake, near Monticello, N. Y., has a very versatile cow. In addition to giving more milk than any other bovine in the community, this cow caught both a fine large pickerel the other day. The cow was wading around in the lake enjoying herself when the pickerel espied a fly on her flank. The fish jumped for the fly, but got entangled in the cow's tail. Then the intelligent bovine rushed to shore with her catch, and Seth's family had pickerel for supper.

SOCIETY GIRL WEDS U. S. ARMY OFFICER

Sally Garlington.

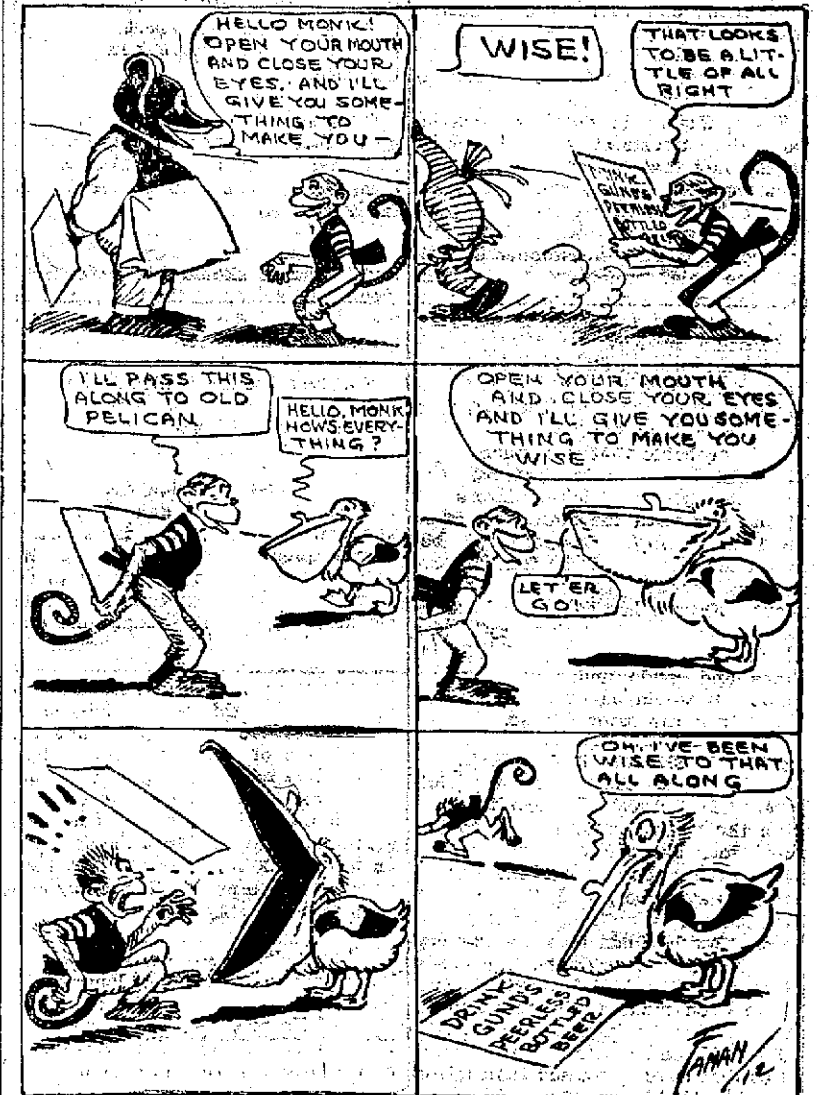

A fashionable wedding took place in Washington on July 24, when Miss Sally Garlington, popular society girl, and Lieutenant Harry Dwight Chamberlain, Seventh United States cavalry, were married in St. John's Episcopal church. A small reception followed the wedding at the home of the bride's parents. Mrs. Chamberlain is the daughter of Brigadier General and Mrs. Garlington, and is a niece of Major General Franklin Bell, U. S. A. She met her husband while in the Philippines on a visit.

THE "SUCKERS" STILL BITING.

The federal authorities have taken drastic measures to break up swindling by the use of the mails. But according to figures just made public by Postmaster General Hitchcock, this especially despicable form of rascality, is still flourishing.

During the last fiscal year the sum of money stolen from "suckers" by the use of the mails was greatly in excess of what they gathered in the year before. This despite the fact that 1,963 arrests were made on complaint of victims. It is impossible to know the extent of this thievery, as only a relatively small part of the cases are detected by the Postoffice Department or come to its attention. Mr. Hitchcock estimates that during the past few years Americans have been swindled out of more than $120,000,000 through the mails in get-rich-quick schemes.

The difficulty in obtaining convictions after arrests are made is shown by the fact that out of the 1,963 persons arrested during the last fiscal year, only 452 were sentenced to punishment. An interesting fact in this connection is that Christopher C. Wilson, the chief promoter of the wireless telegraph swindle, who is under a heavy prison sentence, is enjoying a vacation in New York from Atlanta penitentiary, and that President Taft is considering a pardon for Wilson's agent on the Pacific Coast, who raked in millions for him.

It is probable that not much headway will be made in putting the fraudulent get-rich-quick operators out of business until the states get after them in earnest. Co-operation between the states and the federal government should bring that result about. Kansas has set a good example by enacting its "blue sky" law which places the selling of stocks, bonds and lands under close supervision. It would be well if the other states took the same course.

THOU SHALT NOT STEAL.

With this as their motto the followers of Colonel Roosevelt flung forth their third party banner to the four winds but a few weeks ago. It caught the public fancy, the cry of the bay always does, and the Oyster Bay Colonel is nothing if not theatrical. Now he finds that the war cry is useful but not practical. He needs electors on the ballots next November to even make a showing and to gain this end he intends to duplicate the republican electors in several states that have expressed themselves favorable to his cause, on his Bull Moose ticket. This is not stealing? Oh no. "Thou shalt not steal." Of course the Roosevelt party would do nothing of this kind but it looks as though the cry of theft was on the other foot now.

ASKS FOR FACTS.

One correspondent of the Gazette writes in and asks that the paper print the attitude of the various candidates for state senate and assembly on the question of their attitude towards the question of the income tax and also relative to a more economical administration of state affairs. One republican also go farther and wants to know the political leaning of the candidates as regards the presidential nominees. As these questions are pertinent to the candidates themselves, the Gazette suggests that they make their positions clear on this subject so that they may not be sailing under false colors in asking the support of the voters.

PARTY LOYALTY.

In another column of the Gazette is published tonight excerpts from the article written by Senator La Follette in which he urges party loyalty to the republican nominees. He believes that reforms needed can be worked out inside the republican party better by a third party and also bitterly assails Col. Roosevelt and his attitude in seeking to disrupt the party.

President Van Hise of the state university continues to try and tell the people his visits to both Wilson and Roosevelt did not have political significance but were merely calls for pleasure. All right, President, keep it up. You may fool the people of the state for a while longer but wait until they fully understand your doctrines more fully.

This may be a democratic year during the dog days but it will turn out to be a republican year at the November election when all the ballots are in. You can always elect a democrat in the summer time but as cold weather comes on the republicans gain favor when sober consideration of the real state of affairs takes place.

The democrats are having a merry war among themselves over their gubernatorial choice. Indications are that the Karel men are in the lead through the state and that the Alward-Davies crowd are on the run.

The Post, of Houston, says that nobody has frozen to death there in months. But several democrats in that region developed severe cases of cold feet when Colonel Bryan took charge of the Baltimore convention.

"A widower of sixty-two with $8,000,000 seeks a bride of twenty, with blond hair, blue eyes and rosy cheeks." Being a widower and therefore wise, it will be useless for any of the chemical variety to apply.

Evidently McGovern is going to have no opposition at the primaries this fall and if Schmitz is nominated by the democrats it is only a question of whether he or Taft carry the state by the largest majority.

General Orozco will have to go some in the issuing of proclamations to equal the "I-beg-to-report" record of the Russian generals in Manchuria, but he is making a noble attempt.

Governor Wilson is trying to catch have a "veranda cabinet." But what the untried are most interested in is whether he will have anything stronger than mineral water in it.

Thomas F. Ryan, before sailing for Europe, said: "It looks like Wilson." But probably what he was trying to get away from was something that looks like Bryan.

"Convention of women in Boston adjourned because it was too hot to talk." This is the first notification that Boston has broken the world's heat record.

One service the Lorimer investigation committee still has to perform is to issue a separate report containing all the lies that have been told in the case.

Governor Wilson is tryin gto catch up on sleep preparing for the strenuous days to come. Meanwhile the campaign promises to be more than fairly strenuous.

Voters of the twenty-second senatorial district should not have much trouble in selecting their republican candidate for the senate since Whitet entered the race.

Not even the most mischievous person would stir up the animals in the political zoo these hot days.

Elevator Etiquette.

There is no hard and fast rule about wearing your hat in elevators in the presence of women. In private elevators it is customary to remove their hats when ladies are in the elevator with them, though this custom is by no means universal. In public elevators the uncovering of the head in the presence of women is not considered the thing—especially since the rise of the "suffragists" and the appearance of the "hobble skirt." This whole matter of wearing the hat in the elevator, whether the elevator be public or private, is one of no very grave importance. No sensible woman will think ill of you if you keep your hat on—especially if the day happens to be a chilly one.

Longevity in French Villages.

A remarkable record of longevity is to be found in some of the rural parishes of France. In the village of St. Thomas de la Fliche there have been only fourteen parish priests in three hundred years, the fourteenth being still in possession. The parish of St. Germain du Val, in Paris, has had only three pastors in one hundred years, while that of Givry en Argonne has had but five in 130 years.

Catchwords Easy to Supply.

"Man does not live by bread alone, but by catch words," says R. L. S., and the supply is often renewed by taking over an ordinary word or expression and using it out of its place or natural context. This process, on the authority of Emerson, makes it come at once.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

By ROY K. MOULTON.

Bromides.

"Say, Mag, are you the party who put a foot through three screen doors that I had stacked up out in the shed?"

"Oh, Mrs. Jones, I called you up to ask if you could recommend a good washerwoman? The one I have had ruined all of my clothes."

"Where is that white vest I wore last summer, Angelina?"

"How do you expect your lawn-mower to work, Rufus, when you leave it out in the back yard all winter?"

"I gotta get a new milkman."

"I just ain't got no ambition to do nothing this kind of weather."

Life's Little Ironies.

"Being excused from the office on account of a severe headache and then meeting the boss at the ball game an hour later."

"Taking long odds on a horse that finishes first and then discovering that you have lost your ticket."

"Buying a new spring shape in millinery and finding upon your arrival home that your maid has got one just like it."

"Having a friend strike you for $5 just as you were about to ask him for $10."

"Getting a letter addressed in fine feminine handwriting and finding that it is only a bill from the plumber."

Popularity.

The automobile salesman lover "round by the score, And every day I find a touring car before my door."

I get a ride or two each day, and sometimes three or four. I don't think I was ever quite so popular before."

The secret of it is explained. You see it was this way: My neighbor told a friend of his that he had heard me say:

"That possibly, if someone dies and leaves me rich, I may, perchance, consider buying a run-about some day."

Say Not So.

Tell me not in mournful numbers, Life is but an empty dream; That those touted garden seeds are Not exactly what they seem."

Tell me not that I will labor With the spade and hoe and rake Till I'm lame and sore and weary, To plant seeds that will not "take."

It has always happened that way, But I hope 'twill be my lot To raise more than one cucumber, Some day or my old back lot."

ELECTORS ASKED TO DEFER RESIGNATION

Secretary Stone of Wisconsin Delegation at Chicago Gives His Views of Wisconsin.

A CREED FOR THE DISMAYED.

I believe, therefore I affirm— When God made me he made me to be true and useful and happy.

If I am to be true— I must regard the ills that befall only as a discipline to my spiritual self. I must believe the perils through which I pass will "work out a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

If I am to be useful— Each test must be the touchstone to character and ennoble my soul. Suffering must make me worthy and experience make me wise.

If I am to be happy— I must not waste my days with re- pinings nor my strength in useless regrets. With a calm mind and an un- perturbed spirit of optimism I must go forward.

I believe, therefore I affirm— If God made of me a quickened spirit he must have made that spirit to be, under him, the master of my destiny.

Therefore my soul shall not be crush- ed by failure nor ruined by disaster. Circumstance shall not be my lord.

I believe, therefore I affirm— That out of sore defeat I may be able to wring a victory. I may rise on stepping stones of my dead self to higher things. Because—

God gives no yesterday. God al- ways gives the best; therefore he gives today—and tomorrow.

Today, therefore, I shall face a new world of opportunity with hope and courage.

Today, though clouds may lower, I shall be sure that in his worst place the sun will be rejoicing to run his race.

Today I will do the best that is to me and be therewith content.

Today I will not dissipate my soul with fears.

Today I will not boast of yesterday nor regret it.

Today I will not be sure, but hopeful, of tomorrow.

And today and tomorrow—and to- morrow—I will go my way and be a man.

Because— I am an immortal soul and there is nothing in all God's created universe that can hurt me.

Uncle Pennywise Says:

Countless ages of time passed, as we compute time—before the earth was prepared for the advent of man. The oldest civilization known is that of Egypt, and the pyramids are things of yesterday compared with the formation of the alluvial plains of the Euphrates, or the delta of the Mississippi, not to mention the Laurentian rocks.

You and Your Laundry
By W. C. Kenaga.

When the laundryman gets your laundry bag where does it go—do you know anything about the laundry?

There are good laundries in Janesville. The better ones are advertis- ing week after week for your busi- ness. Their advertisements are not "stock" talks, but plain everyday English telling about the work they do, the care they exercise, the service they render.

You owe it to yourself and your love of cleanliness to patronize an ADVERTISING LAUNDRY which, equipped with modern machinery and using modern methods, can give you satisfaction.

No laundry on earth can make misleading statements and remain in business very long. No laundry can remain in business very long and depend wholly upon transient trade.

The value of a laundry driver de- pends upon the number of bundles he can command on his route—the better the laundry work, the more bundles.

Try the ADVERTISING LAUN- DRY and see the difference between ancient and modern methods.

Heart to Heart Talks.

By EDWIN A. NYE.

Suggesting that Wisconsin electors who think that they cannot support President Taft, take no action at this time, James A. Stone, secretary of the Wisconsin delegation to the Chicago convention, in a letter to A. C. Anderson, Menomonie, who resigned says that an electoral vacancy can be filled by the proper party committee up to eight days before the November election, or by convening the delegates to the national convention and nominat- ing in the same way that the original nominations were made.

"Immediately after the convention," says Stone, "delegates organized under the leadership of Roosevelt for the purpose of forming a new party based chiefly upon the alleged fraudulent organization of the convention. It must be conceded that one who en- tertains the opinion that the conven- tion was controlled by fraud, is in duty bound to say so and in some manner make an effective protest. In order to maintain the claim, however, it seems to me that it is incumbent upon such delegates to show that fraud actually controlled the conven- tion and that the methods of deter- mining contests and facts—controlling decisions were essentially different from those which obtained in the con- ventions of 1904 and 1908; which were in fact, controlled (steam rolled) in the interest of, or at the dictation of, the bolting candidate, who now seeks to lead a third party movement with this as an excuse for breaking away from old party ties. The contesting delegation from Wisconsin in 1904 was as ruthlessly excluded by the conven- tion which nominated Roosevelt. I have never heard that he expressed any regret for that act of injustice and we know that progressives were not recognized by appointments in Wiscon- sin under his administration."

Stone urges the electors who re- main on the ticket to explain fully to their constituents what they intend to do so that they may betray no pub- lic trust.

History of Canary Wine.
Canary wines have been known for centuries, and winemaking has been an important industry, although lately Madeira has outplayed it in the com- petition. The grapevine was taken to the Canary islands from Crete in the fifteenth century.

His Habits Unchanged.
"The conditions seem to be unfavor- able," admitted the trance medium. "I am unable to get any communica- tion from your late husband." "Well, I'm not at all surprised," replied the widow. "It's only nine o'clock now, and John never did show up till about two a. m."

Competition in mission work is one explanation of the difficulties in evangelizing the people of the orient, according to Mrs. William Frazer McDowell, wife of the well-known Methodist bishop. She, accompanied her husband on a tour of the orient a year ago. Another reason, she says, is that the non-Christian religions are themselves active. She is not discouraged, however, and says that all that is needed is the con- tinued work of education and the preaching of the gospel.

WARNS THE DENTISTS TO GUARD PROPERTY

Theft in Beloit Office Leads Chief Appleby to Personally Caution Local Dentists.

Because of the robbery of the dental office of Dr. C. A. Atwood in Beloit yesterday, and the possibility that the thieves who made the haul there would probably make attempts to rob the offices of Janesville dentists, Chief of Police Appleby this morning telephoned the local members of the profession and personally cautioned them to keep their gold and valuable instruments well guarded.
The office of Dr. Atwood was entered while he was away at lunch and the burglar made way with gold plate and teeth valued at a large sum. The doctor had just been visited by a dental supply man and after finishing up some work with a patient he laid the articles which were later stolen on his work bench and went to his lunch. As the doctor laid his keys there also by mistake and had to take a pane of glass out of a window to get into the office, he is of the opinion that the back door latch did not lock in closing, which made it a very simple matter for the thief to enter.
Beloit dentists' offices were robbed about a year ago, and very soon after, some Janesville offices. This makes it seem all the more probable that similar attempts might be made in this city.

NICHOLS IS GIVEN FINE ENDORSEMENT

Local Aerie of Eagles Names Its President as Accredited Delegate To National Convention.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the local aerie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles at their club rooms last evening at which John C. Nichols was unanimously endorsed by his brother Eagles as a candidate for the office of Worthing Grand Trustee of the national aerie which will meet in convention at Cleveland, Ohio, August 5 to 10. Mr. Nichols was also named accredited delegate to the national meeting from the local lodge. There will be a large delegation of Janesville Eagles at the Cleveland gathering according to present plans. They will join the Milwaukee delegation which has chartered a special train for their delegation.
T. M. Toll of Milwaukee, past state president, was here for the meeting last night. A social time was enjoyed after the business meeting and an elaborate buffet luncheon was served.

SENATOR DENOUNCES THIRD PARTY MOVE

publican party. It rapidly advanced its control, shaping the policies of state administrations and stamping its impression upon national legislation as a distinctively progressive Republican movement, and upon this fact in recent political history I appeal to progressive Republicans everywhere to maintain their organization within the Republican party. To maintain such an organization, blind allegiance to every party nomination and to every party declaration is not essential.

Emphasis in the first part of the editorial is placed upon the statement that the progressive movement originated in the Republican party and that a number of states secured reforms of a progressive nature through the machinery of that party. Roosevelt, says the senator, was never a supporter of these reforms. In regard to conduct at the national convention and consequent formation of a third party he writes forcibly as follows:

"Until little more than one year ago, Roosevelt had not even expressed himself as friendly to what had become known as the progressive Republican movement. Not until about five months ago did he make his so-called declaration of principles. Shortly thereafter he abandoned any attempt to discuss his 'principles.' Ignoring issues, he lured the President into a campaign, so bitterly personal, that by the time of the Chicago convention, the frenzy and passion aroused subordinated everything to a fierce scramble to seat delegates and secure the nomination. Fraud and bribery were charged upon both sides. Tempers were at white heat. Threats of personal violence were common. Investigation was baffled. There was no chance for argument. The truth was discounted. Lies were as good as facts. The Roosevelt men charged that the Taft men were stealing the convention. The Taft men charged the Roosevelt men were trying to steal the convention."

"And upon this mad squabble for office between two men, under whose administrations the Republican party had made the trust, tariff and special interest records for which it is most severely criticised, it is proposed to destroy a sound and vital progressive movement, which had already gone far to nationalize itself within a great and powerful organization."

"The failure of a political convention through passion, intrigue, or corruption, to represent the will of the millions who constitute a political party, with inspiring traditions and progressive promise, should not be permitted to destroy that party."

"A political party is not made to order. It is the slow development of powerful forces working in our social life. Sound ideas seize upon the human mind. Opinions ripen into fixed convictions. Masses of men are drawn together by common belief and organized about clearly defined principles. From time to time this organization expresses its purpose and names candidates to represent its principles. The millions cannot be assembled. Until direct nominations and the rigid control of campaign expenditures shall prevail they must seek to express their will through the imperfect agencies of congressional, state, and national conventions. These agencies are not the party. They are temporarily delegated to represent the millions who constitute the party. If recreant to their trust the party may suffer the temporary defeat of its purposes. But what object folly to seek upon such a basis to destroy a great political party 7 millions strong, with a clear progressive majority in its ranks, within which there has been built up a progressive movement that promises to make the Republican party the instrument through which government shall be completely restored to the people."

A democratic victory in the opinion of Senator La Follette, would mean a victory for progressive principles. He points to the fact that the House as now organized by the democrats has been partisan rather than progressive and that the legislation as mapped out by the democratic leaders has not been progressive. A democratic victory "carries with it small assurance of progressive gains in legislation."

The attitude that progressives should take in the opinion of the Senator is outlined in the closing paragraphs: "It seems to me that the highest obligation of real progressive republicans in every state is to maintain their organization and continue to fight within the lines of the republican party for progressive principles, policies and candidates. No aid or encouragement should be given to a third party to divide the progressive vote and destroy the progressive republican movement. No break should be permitted in the progressive ranks which will endanger the election of any true progressive republican anywhere. Every effort should be put forth to increase the number of thoroughgoing progressive republicans in the United States Senate and House of Representatives."

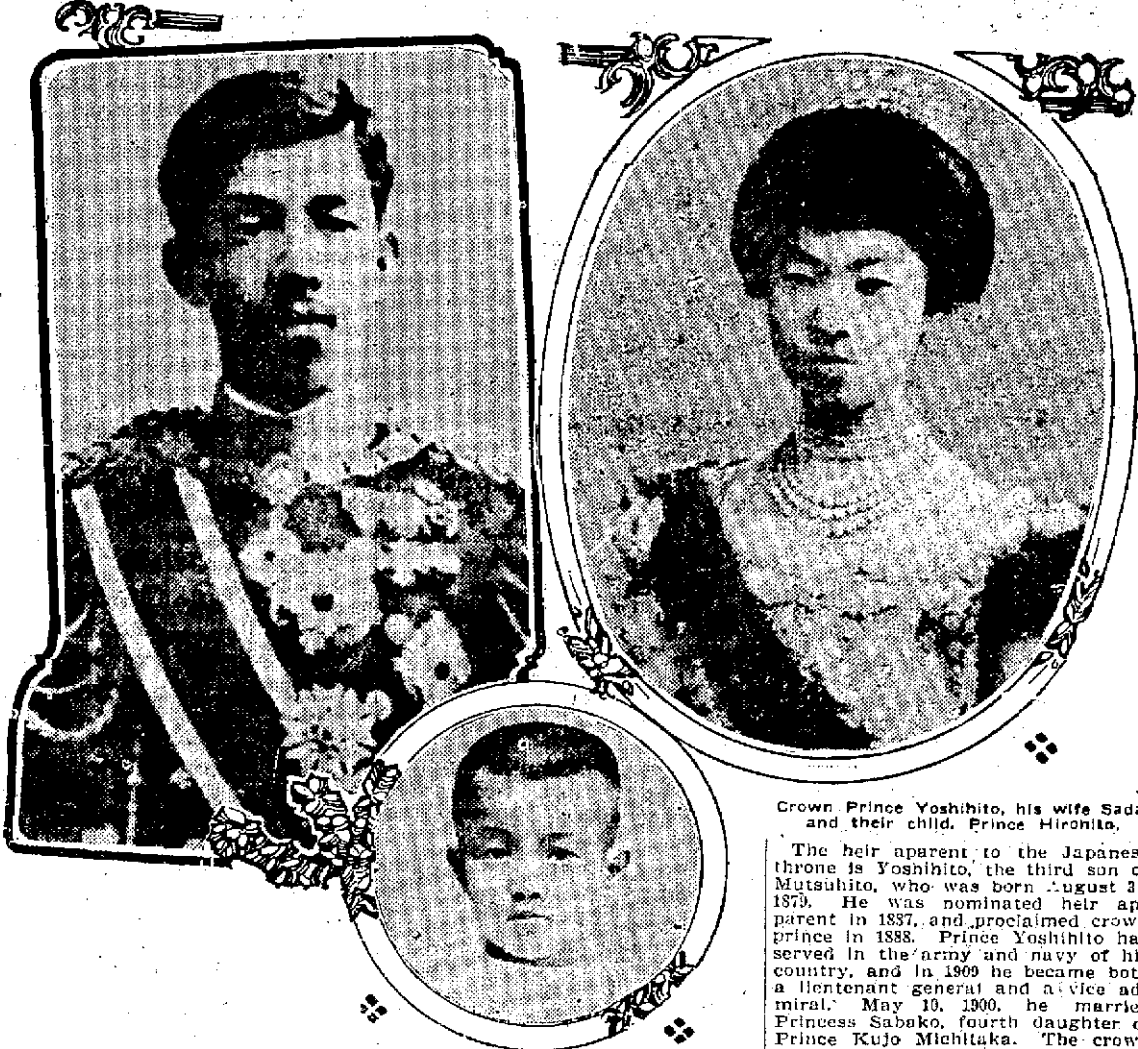

Swiss Now Welcome Motor Cars.

The Swiss have relaxed their well known hostility to motoring somewhat. The barring of motor cars affected principally Lucerne, the center of all cosmopolitan tourists. This action was due to local efforts. The authorities of the canton of Schwyz, after stubborn resistance, have now yielded and will permit motoring along the Kusnacht road, whereby the Italo-Swiss through route is now free.

Time and Place.

A little six-year-old Philadelphia girl was sent to the family physician for a vaccination certificate, so that she could enter school. The certificate required the date of vaccination. Not remembering when he had done it, he said, "Janet, how long are you vaccinated?" To which Janet innocently replied, "Here it is on my leg, about an inch long."

The heir apparent to the Japanese throne is Yoshihito, the third son of Mutsuhito, who was born August 31, 1879. He was nominated heir apparent in 1897, and proclaimed crown prince in 1898. Prince Yoshihito has served in the army and navy of his country, and in 1909 he became both a lieutenant general and a vice admiral. May 10, 1900, he married Princess Sabako, fourth daughter of Prince Kujo Michitaka. The crown prince has three sons, the youngest of whom was born in 1905.

Find Valuable Fresco in Ruins.

One of the latest and most interesting things uncovered during the new excavations at Pompeii under the direction of Professor Spinazzola, is a fresco which is regarded as the best found. It was one of the ornaments of the facade of a house situated in the main public thoroughfare, of which the roof was in almost perfect condition. It represents the Pompeian Venus standing erect crowned with a diadem in the midst of flying Cupids on a chariot drawn by four Indian elephants. Seen from the front, the representation of these animals is strikingly realistic. The archaeological value of the fresco is extremely great, for the colors are very fresh and harmonious.

Liberal Education.

Sir Horace Plunkett, chum of Colonel Roosevelt, once delivered a lecture in Dublin, Ireland, on the best way to improve conditions among the poor. At that time Sir Horace was not exactly a finished speaker. His tongue could not do justice to the riches of his mind. The day following his address he received from a lady a note containing this statement: "What you need is two things: First, a wife, and, second, lessons in elocution." To this Plunkett sent this reply: "I have received your letter saying that I need two things: First, a wife, and, second, lessons in elocution. Those are only one."—Popular Magazine.

RELATIVES OF MISSING VIRGINIA GIRL THINK SHE HAS FLED WITH OLD LOVER

Dorcas Snodgrass.

Relatives of Dorcas Snodgrass, the Virginia girl whose mysterious disappearance from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., where she was learning to be a nurse, has baffled the police, believe that the mystery will be solved when the ship on which Dr. Norman Smith, house surgeon of the Mt. Vernon hospital, sailed for Hamburg reaches its destination. Dr. Smith and Miss Snodgrass were formerly lovers. She was engaged to him for a long time. The match was disapproved of and then she met another whom she promised to marry. It is believed the old flame proved too strong, and that Miss Snodgrass secretly married Smith and fled with him to Germany.

Success in Soul Winning

By Rev. W. H. Pope,

Superintendent of Miss of Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

Three Things to Remember.

I. Remember that the Son of man came to seek and save that which was lost. It was not to found a church, or to establish a creed, or to teach good morals. He came to die for men's sins in order that they might be saved. Furthermore men are just as completely lost now as they were then. Civilization has done away with some of the cruelty and barbarism in the world, but human nature is precisely the same today as it was 2,000 years ago. It is thoroughly selfish and sinful, and nothing but the grace of God can make it otherwise. (John 3:18, 19; I Cor 2:14; Eph. 4:18.)

No matter how amiable, and honorable and public spirited a man may be, without Christ he is lost and needs to be saved. "He that hath the Son hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life;" that is, he is spiritually dead.

II. Remember that the Lord Jesus will save some souls through you if you will co-operate with him. You have some gifts and more or less influence. If you will consecrate your gifts and influence to the service of Christ, he will certainly use them to win some of your friends to himself. While Jesus was in the world he was the light of the world, but now that he has gone, "Ye are the light of the world," and your mission is to so shine as to guide others out of darkness into the marvelous light of God.

III. Remember that Jesus will furnish all the equipment you need. Do you lack wisdom? "I will give you a mouth and wisdom which all your adversaries shall not be able to gainsay or resist." Do you lack courage? "Be strong and of a good courage; be not afraid, neither be thou dismayed; for the Lord thy God is with thee whithersoever thou goest." (Josh. 1:9.) Do you lack power? "All power is given unto me in heaven and earth." (Matt. 28:18.) Do you lack faith? "The life which I now live in the flesh, I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me." Jeremiah said, "Ah, Lord God! behold, I cannot speak; for I am a child." But the Lord said unto him, "Say not, I am a child, for thou shalt go to all that I shall send thee, and whatsoever I command thee thou shalt speak." Remember that all your inexperience and inability amount to nothing in the face of the Master's express command, "Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men."

Three Things to Do.

I. Set the winning of souls before you as a definite aim in life. An aimless life is generally a useless life. The people who succeed are usually those who set a definite object before them and say, "This one thing I will do, whatever the cost may be." The men who accumulate fortunes, who secure political appointments, as a rule, are people who have been bending all their energies in one direction for many years. Why should not Christians set the winning of souls before them as a definite purpose in life? And who is there who could not succeed if he would put the same amount of thought and interest into it that he does into his business? No one expects to succeed in business without toil and patience and sacrifice.

II. Cultivate a passion for souls. David Brainerd, whose biography ought to be read often by every Christian worker, used to say: "I care not where I go, nor what hardships I endure, if I can only see souls saved. All I think of by day and dream of by night is the conversion of men." Often he would go out into the forest in mid-winter and kneel down in the snow and wrestle in prayer until his clothing was wet with perspiration. Many a time he spent the whole night in prayer for the poor Indians among whom he labored, and in almost every such instance, one will find in his diary two or three days after some such entry as this: "Today as I preached the word, the power of God came down upon those stolid, immovable Indians, and melted and broke their hearts, and swept them into the kingdom by scores."

III. Begin and continue all your work with prayer. Pray for all men. (I Tim. 2:1-4.) "I exhort, therefore, that prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks be made for all men." One advantage for praying daily for each man, woman and child on the face of the earth is, that you never meet a person whom you have not prayed for, and many times.

It is a good plan to make a list of half a dozen of more persons in whom you are especially interested, and make them an object of daily intercession, at the same time looking for their conversion. A Sunday school teacher who began praying for his class had the pleasure of seeing eleven young men converted in a few weeks.

Paid for Art.

"Is that picture a genuine work of art?" asked the uninitiated observer. "No," replied Mr. Cumrox frankly, "but the story the dealer gave me along with it is."

MAY BUCKLEY, WELL KNOWN ACTRESS, TO BE SEEN NO MORE IN MOVING PICTURES

May Buckley.

May Buckley, the well known actress, who is recognized as one of the very best women who ever posed for moving pictures in America, says that she will not appear again in the "movies." She declares that the life of an actor or actress who poses for moving pictures is dull and monotonous, and lacks the fascination which the stage affords. She says, however, that she enjoys moving pictures, and goes to every good moving picture show that comes along.

WELL KNOWN NEW YORK WOMAN DELEGATE TO INTERNATIONAL PEACE CONFERENCE

WHAT COURSE WILL BEVERIDGE PURSUE?

A. J. Beveridge.

Ex-Senator Albert J. Beveridge of Indiana will have to decide pretty soon whether he will become a Bull Moose or stick with the G. O. P. Before the Chicago convention Beveridge was a strong Roosevelt man; since then he has not taken a definite stand. Leaders of the third party organization in Indiana say that Beveridge will certainly accept the nomination for the governorship on their ticket. Mr. Beveridge is now in the Maine woods resting, writing and studying the political situation.

WAS STRUCK BY A TRAIN AT CLINTON CROSSING.

George Reimer, A Deaf Mute, Had Narrow Escape From Death Yesterday Morning. (SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Clinton, July 26.—George Reimer came very near losing his life yesterday morning at the C. M. & St. Paul crossing at the Bowman Dairy Company's plant. Mr. Reimer is a deaf mute and as it was impossible to see the ten o'clock freight coming from the west until his horses were on the track. He pulled his team to the right but not soon enough to avoid being struck. The wagon with its load of milk horses and driver were shoved about ten rods along the track before the train could be stopped. Mr. Reimer very luckily got off with a scalp wound about three inches long. One horse had his leg badly lacerated but will, it is thought recover. The wagon was badly broken. It is wondered that Mr. Reimer was not killed and no doubt owes his life to the fact that the train was running very slowly. This crossing is considered a very dangerous one.

NEW GLARUS SUFFERS SERIOUS FIRE LOSS

Fire Originating in Brewery Warehouse Spreads to Methodist Church Causing Heavy Damage.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

New Glarus, July 26.—Fire of unknown origin starting in the warehouse of the New Glarus Brewing company at four o'clock yesterday afternoon, completely destroyed the building and contents and spread to several nearby structures, one of which was the Methodist church. A barn belonging to Jacob Legler was burned down and burning shingles were carried by the wind to the residence and barn of Dr. E. J. Helgeson and to the Methodist church a block away. Dr. Helgeson's buildings were saved by the immediate action of the fire department but the church was almost entirely burned.

The fire was not discovered until it had gained considerable headway. The department had a hard fight at various houses over the distance of two blocks and that greater loss was not suffered is considered most fortunate.

Anton Aebli, Milwaukee, Vehicle tire; John W. Bodilly, Oshkosh, Horseshoe calk; Carl N. Dellinger, Wausau, Carpet stretcher; Carlo D. Fahrney, Milwaukee, Street cleaner; Frank L. Hoaglin, Waupaca, Funnel; Alex C. Matheson, Bangor, Fishing rod; Niels M. Olsen, Neenah, Boot and shoe cleaning device; Eddie P. Olson and J. T. Jackson, Mount Sterling, Mortaring device; Howard E. Prosser, Seymour, Filling system; Carlos S. Westover, Madison, Boat; Clarence L. Wheeler, Monroe, Mail box attachment; John N. Ziegler, La Crosse, Level.

Not the Christabel They Wanted.

One London woman who had named her dog Christabel Pankhurst recently wrote a postcard to a friend, saying: "Christabel Pankhurst is too much of a worry; I shall have to send her away." Before long three detectives had called at the house whence the card issued to find, not the elusive suffragette, whom the English police were searching for, but only her canine namesake!

Increditable Point.

It is in every way creditable to handle the yard stick and to measure tape; the only discredit is in having a soul whose range of thought is as short as the stick and as narrow as the tape.—Horace Mann.

FEAR OF REVENGE MAKES WITNESSES SLOW TO TESTIFY IN ROSENTHAL CASE

Sam Paul.

Fear of revenge makes witnesses slow to testify in the investigation of the murder of Herman Rosenthal in New York City. Witnesses know that their lives will not be safe if they offer evidence that will result in the apprehension of the criminals. New York police believe that Sam Paul, the east side gambler, knows more about the Rosenthal murder than he has yet cared to reveal. He is now under arrest. Paul became one of the implacable enemies of Rosenthal when the latter determined to "squelch" on the gamblers and the police, and tell something about the sinister relation existing between them. It is believed that Paul dined with the murderers of Rosenthal on the day their crime was committed.

Important Question of Dress.

Lord Chesterfield says: "I would rather have a young fellow too much than too little dressed; the excess on that side will wear off with a little age and reflection." To be as well dressed for all occasions as a man's means will permit shows self respect and not conceit as ignorant people sometimes imagine. Society invariably looks on young men with a partial eye, but it likes to see them well dressed.

War in the Air.

A strange drama of bird life was witnessed recently by some Portland fishermen on the south coast of England. A homing pigeon was attacked by a large hawk, when two rooks and a seagull joined forces and attempted to deprive the hawk of its prey. The fight lasted some five minutes when the hawk, tearing the pigeon's head from its body, let the latter fall and flew away.

The Price of "Salammbô."

It is exactly fifty years since the publication of Flaubert's "Salammbô" and some correspondence has been disinterred showing what were the great novelist's emoluments for his masterpiece. He sold it for 10,000 francs, but he wrote to the correspondent to whom he gave the information: "Tell no one. Levy is going to boom 'Salammbô,' and send paragraphs to all the papers to the effect that he paid 30,000 francs for it." But 10,000 francs is only £40, and "Salammbô" took Flaubert five years to write. His literary income, therefore, worked out at £80 a year, so that it was very fortunate for him that he possessed private means.—Westminster Gazette.

And Then Silence.

Mr. Grump (with newspaper)—"Here's an odd case—a woman marries one man, thinking he is another." Mrs. Grump—"What's odd about that? Women are doing that all the time."

His Misconception.
A man who was much in need of sleep rolled out of bed during the night. The jar did not awake him thoroughly, and his hand wandered in exploration. It encountered the mesh of some protruding springs and a sturdy iron corner post. "In jail at last," he murmured as he passed away.

The Housekeeper's Vacation Resolutions

I WILL give no thought to the matter of food except to order what I want from the menu.

I will not discuss housekeeping or maids or anything relating to my usual work. I will resolutely forget that such things exist.

I will dress the children simply, and then let them play and get dirty without worrying about it.

I will endeavor to make my vacation as different as possible from my usual manner of living.

I will get "chummy" with my husband, and try to bring back the spirit of our engagement days.

I will forget all about preserving and pickling. I will not keep wondering if the cat is being cared for, and the flowers watered.

I will refuse to grow envious of women who bring nursemaids to care for their children, or who talk about their autos and their establishments.

I will maintain, serene in my heart, the knowledge that I have as happy a home, as good a husband and children as a woman could want.

But nevertheless, for the time being, I will put this home and its cares out of my mind.

I will do this simply that I may go back to it refreshed and with a mind clearer and stronger for grappling with its problems.

And my husband, my children and myself will just be a little crowd of carefree people who are enjoying the good that life brings and cultivating the spirit of love and comradeship.

So that looking back on this vacation, when trials and vexations come, it will be a storehouse upon which to draw for sympathetic understanding of each other, and toleration of the little personal faults that annoy.

I will make it a vacation in which the whole family will grow closer together in spirit, so that we will stand as a unit against any onslaughts on our peace and happiness.

they are boiled remove the meat, breaking it as little as possible. Scald a cup of cream in a double boiler, add to it a tablespoon of butter and flour blended together. When it is smooth and thick add the crushed yolks of four hard boiled eggs, half a teaspoon of salt, a little paprika, a sprinkling of pepper and half a teaspoon of lemon juice. Put in the crab meat and if more seasonings are needed add it. A bit of curry powder is liked by some while others insist that mustard completes the flavoring more satisfactorily.

Put this mixture into the washed and dried crab shells, round it over the sides and press it down well, so none of the frying material may enter.

Now bake the filled shells with beaten egg and water and sprinkle with fine crumbs. Fry two at a time in very hot fat. If they are to be browned in the oven instead of in the fat omit egg and spread with melted butter and crumbs.

Crabs are caught in the Chesapeake in great numbers and are canned on the spot. The greatest care is given to their inspection. They are sorted according to size and if any have died during the trip to land they are thrown out. Crabs holding two hundred and fifty dozen each are run into great steaming tanks where with one spasmodic twist they relinquish all earthly hopes and ambitions.

The meat is at once removed from the shell and comes away white, sweet and dry and is hermetically sealed in cans and will keep in any climate.

DIET FOR RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is one of the diseases which is especially influenced by diet. In acute cases a fluid diet of gruels, vegetable soups and all forms of milk are used.

Alcohol is especially tabooed, drinks of lemonade without sugar, buttermilk and fruit drinks are permissible. Saccharin supplies the place of sugar when needed without any of its harmful effects.

Gout is apt to follow an attack of rheumatism because of the large accumulation of uric acid in the system. Whenever it is found in the system, even in small quantities, special attention should be paid to the diet.

One wise old proverb to follow is to "eat less, work more, worry less, walk more."

Only just food enough to sustain the body should be eaten. Eating too much is very harmful. Three slender meals a day, with nothing between meals, are sufficient.

Alcoholic drinks as well as sweets and sugar should be avoided even in mild cases of the trouble.

Oysters may be served in this diet provided the hard muscle is removed. Milk seasoned with the oyster liquor, when one tires of milk, makes a desirable change.

Junket, or whey, is borne by the most delicate stomachs. Sweeten a quart of milk with saccharin, add a tablespoonful of rennet or a tablet dissolved in a tablespoonful of water, a tablespoonful of lemon juice; let stand until thick, chill and serve. Do not shake, as the whey will separate from the curd. The whey may be poured off and used as a drink and the curd given as a food.

If milk causes gastric disturbances, it may be peptonized. In a quart can put five grains of the extract of pancreatin, a pinch of baking soda and a gill of water; shake and add a pint of milk. Put into a warm place for an hour. When slightly bitter in taste and a grayish yellow in color, scald or put on ice to prevent further digestion. This milk will be easily assimilated, as it is predigested.

Crabs are in season from May to September, they are at their best in July and August. How to prepare them is often a sealed mystery to home cooks and in any event the first process is unpleasant to both crabs and cooks; if either of them have "nerves" they are apt to be in evidence when the water begins to boil for like lobsters they are first plunged alive into boiling water.

When they have boiled for five minutes throw a tablespoon of salt into the water and continue the boiling for twenty-five minutes longer.

Let them cool in the water then remove the claws, if they are hard shells, raise the apron and remove the body from the back of the shell, pull away the "deadmen" that protect it on each side. Avoid touching the eyes and the gill bag back of them. Put the meat on ice until ready to use.

Soft shells must be handled quickly and cooked and finished with haste and eaten immediately. Cut out the gill sack and the eyes, raise the apron and remove everything but the edible meat. The deep fat they are to be fried in should be hot and ready, dip the crabs first in beaten egg then

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

"T O live with the saints in Heaven
Is untold bliss and glory,
But to live with the saints on earth
Is quite another story."

The wife of a neighbor of ours has incipient tuberculosis and has been ordered to spend the winter at a health resort. She leaves at home a husband and four children of whom the oldest is sixteen. A married sister who has no bairns of her own has come to take charge of the home for the winter.

We had been asked by the invalid to try to make her sister's stay as pleasant as possible, and had been paying our first call. In the course of this call the sister—despite the presence of one of her small nieces—had confided to us that she did not like children; that it almost broke her heart to close up her beautiful home to which she was devoted, and that she had been obliged to give up her long-planned sea trip in order to take charge of her sister's household.

Practically our whole stay was taken up in hearing of the sacrifices she had made and in condoling with her.

Said Molly, the little stenographer lady, as we walked down the street, "Poor Mrs. Crawford. It's hard for her, isn't it?"

"Why poor Mrs. Crawford, Molly?" cried the lady-who-always-knows-somewhat, with spirit. "Poor babies, I say. Don't you know that she's perfectly happy? Didn't you see how much pleasure she got out of telling us how she was sacrificing herself? I don't doubt she takes it out on those poor children and their father every day of her stay, and she'll never let her sister forget it. I can see she's one of those people who love to sacrifice themselves and then take it out of those they make the sacrifices for. Poor Mrs. Crawford, indeed! Why, my dear, she's simply delighted at the chance to pose as a martyr and make a lot of people feel uncomfortable."

The lady-who-always-knows-somewhat doesn't often speak with such warmth and with such an approach to acerbity.

But I don't blame her a bit, do you?

It seems to me that there is scarcely any species more trying than the "grins on earth" who rub their pseudo-sainthood into everybody with whom they come into contact.

They simply gloat over a chance to sacrifice themselves. They seize each opportunity avidly because they know that no pleasure they sacrifice can be half so keen as the delight of posing as martyrs.

Do you know what I think would be the best punishment for these people? It's this:—I recommend it to any victim—absolutely refuse to accept any sacrifices at their hands.

Remind them of Stevenson's creed that any sacrifices which are not made gladly and without ostentation had better not be made at all. Thank them, but tell them that their services cost every one concerned quite too dearly.

Perhaps you don't think they will mind this at all, but they will. By-and-by you will have them begging you to let them make some sacrifice for you.

And perhaps if you keep them begging long enough, you will finally even bring them to that stage of mind wherein they will actually be eager to make a glad, unostentatious genuine sacrifice.

Heart and Home Problems

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson—Ought a man to pay for the wedding expenses? My mother says he intended ought to pay for the invitations and the carriage to the church and the bride's bouquet and everything. But some of my girl friends say the bride's family has to spend the money. Which is right?

GLADYS.

Mother is wrong this time.

The bride's parents must stand all the anti-marriage expenses. The bridegroom pays only for his own carriage to the church. He of course pays for the marriage license and minister's fee, and he ought to present the bride with her bouquet. Usually, too, he makes her a present of some bit of jewelry which she wears with her wedding outfit.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—Do you think it is wrong for me to sit on the porch with young men callers?

I am 19 years old and I know quite a few boys who like to come and visit evenings. We don't do anything but talk and sing and tell jokes and laugh. But one of our neighbors is an old cat and she says I act perfectly disgraceful and she is putting it all over the neighborhood.

My mother and father think it is all right and tell me they have no objections to as many coming as they like, as long as I see them at home, and they want us to have a jolly time.

Please tell me what you think, and greatly oblige.

THE GIRL.

You do not need to worry about what your neighbor says. If your mother and father know you are doing nothing wrong, have just as good a time as you can, my dear, as long as it is an honest good time.

Try not to be too noisy, though. Remember there are other people in the neighborhood who may not enjoy your songs and laughter as much as you do, and try to hold the boys down a little when they get noisy.

They will respect you for it, be sure.

Dear Mrs. Thompson—I have been chums with a girl for quite a while, but I haven't thought of marrying her or anybody else. Now some of her friends want to know when the wedding is to be. What am I to say? I hate to seem to turn the girl down, but I never wanted to marry her. She's just a good friend. TOM.

If you did not want to marry the girl you should not have taken up so much of her time that it made people think you wished to marry her. A good many young men make that mistake.

The next time anybody asks you about the "wedding" simply tell them that you have nothing to say; then let them think what they please. If they choose to think the girl has refused you, it will be more marly on your part to let them think so, than to say anything that would seem to harm the girl. In fact, a refused man, if he is a good sort, somehow always wins the sympathy of his friends, and the other girls usually try to make it up to him the best they know how.

Whatever you do, don't be a cad. Remember, you've made the situation embarrassing by your own actions. And if you see any symptoms of the girl showing too fond of you, the sooner you break off your chumship with her the better it will be for the girl. No manly man wins a girl's love when he has no intention of marrying her.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am to be married very soon. I am a brunette. Will you please tell me what I can grow in and what color would be most becoming? BROWN EYES.

A young bride should wear white. If you wish, you can wear white marquisette over a slip of pink silk or satin. I think this would be very becoming. Carry pink flowers with this costume.

A NATTY CUSTOME IN STRIPED SERGE

Here is a natty costume in white and black striped serge. The gored skirt is surrounded with a shaped band that is cleft on the left side. The coat is cut to show an attractive arrangement of the stripes and is decorated with white silk braid buttons.

Summer Foods Often Cause Dyspepsia

Their Effect on the Digestive Organs Responsible for Many of the Season's Ills.

Summer should be the period of perfect health, but impure water and milk, unripe fruit, and the tendency to indulge in acid foods, and food drinks, produces a contrary condition in many people.

The effect of the average summer diet is to constipate even normally regular bowels, and this results in disarranging the entire digestive system. When the bowels are choked with the stomach's refuse, indigestion is almost sure to follow, and the waste matter that should pass out through the bowels, not finding passage, ferments in the stomach and the poisons are forced into the blood, causing much distress and often serious illness.

To keep the bowels free, there is no more effective remedy than Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. This is a pleasant-tasting bowel stimulant and laxative tonic that is very gentle in its action, bringing relief in an easy, natural manner, and without discomfort. A spoonful of Syrup Pepsin will quickly check summer diarrhoea by cleansing the bowels and removing the foreign matter that irritates and inflames the tissue. It is sold in drug stores for fifty cents a bottle; a large family size, considerably more than twice the quantity, costs a dollar. If you have never used Syrup Pepsin and would like a free trial bottle, postpaid, write to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 406 Washington St., Monticello, Illinois.

The Skin and Not the Blood.

Until recently it has been a generally accepted theory that eczema was a disease of the blood. Scientific investigations have taught us that eczema is positively a skin disease and curable through the skin alone. Meritol Eczema Remedy is applied directly to the diseased skin, the effect is marvelous and its results permanent. Do not delay trying Meritol Eczema Remedy. Reliable Drug Co., Sole Agents.

DRINKING WITH MEALS.

The Journal of the American Medical Association says that while the conclusions of Professor Hawk, of the University of Illinois, may not be conclusive on the subject of drinking at meal time, they at least indicate that in those cases in which the motor activity of the stomach is normal (when the stomach empties itself readily), drinking at meals need not be forbidden, since the stomach will quickly pass the water to the intestine, but that individual conditions must be considered. Clinical experience shows that in all cases in which digestion is weak, the patient does better by not drinking at meal time.

Dinner Stories

Although he was not present at the recent banquet given by the Indiana Society of Chicago, Ed. W. Howe, of Atchison, Kan., contributed this story:

"When I was a little boy, living in a little village in Indiana, there was a swimming hole I often visited with the other boys. One day we missed Tom Jackson, and we knew he had been drowned. Then we began diving for him and soon dragged him out and laid him on his stomach with his heels up. Some one shouted, 'Get a doctor!' And as Tom was a particular friend of mine, I started for town as fast as my legs would carry me. Fortunately I found the doctor in, and we hurried back to the swimming hole. Then we found a lot of women. The doctor rolled Tom around and stood him on his head, and slapped him, and finally had him crying. When I knew Tom had been saved I was very proud of my part in the performance, as I had made a run uptown and back that I believed would long be referred to as the record. But while this pleasantly thinking of a future of fame a woman said to me:

"Why did you look at you?" "And then I realized that at that moment and during my run uptown and back I was as naked as the day I was born. The people laughed at me so much because of the incident that I was compelled to leave town, and I am not now identified with Indiana."

Senator Sullivan of New York once put in new form, a joke as old as medicine. The occasion was a banquet of homeopathic physicians. During the banquet the usual toasts were drunk. To the health of "the ladies," of "the president," of "Hannemann, the father of homeopathy," and of a dozen other persons and subjects, glasses were drained duly, and then, all of a sudden, the toastmaster remarked "Senator Sullivan has not yet been heard from." Senator Sullivan will now propose a health. The senator arose and beamed upon the assemblage of physicians. "I propose," he said, "the health of the sick."

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

THE PICNIC SEASON.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

A PICNIC is a place where people meet to perspire in unison and make the acquaintance of several new varieties of insect life.

A picnic is always held at some damp and inaccessible spot, where there is an abundance of sharp visaged ants which are continually dropping down somebody's neck and interrupting the conversation with unholy remarks.

No picnic is considered a real success unless it bumps into a wet thunder shower just as the fried chicken is about to be disseminated. It is a melancholy sight to see a lean, hungry picnicker comfortably seated in a large, resilient pool of rainwater and trying to spear the elusive olive with a tin fork, while all about him are the prostrate and water-soaked forms of the baking powder biscuit, the scalloped potato and the angel food cake.

Picnics are usually crowned by a series of free baths, just as the low descending sun imparts its last frogal blister. These baths are usually taken in some river which is the home of the highly-perfumed carp and has a bottom liberally ornamented with clam shells and the yielding vertebrae of the polliwog. They are also taken in native costumes which make a thin man look like a bas relief of a toast-ing fork.

Some people are so fond of picnics that they take along self-dumping hammocks and stay in the woods until nature has given them the rich, golden sheen of a summer sausage. After a man has grown a beard which would stand up and fight a disc harrow to the ropes, he will return home with a deep sense of satisfaction and a series of parallel ridges embossed by the vindictive mosquito.

Picnickers who sleep in a tent are seldom disturbed by anything except the inhuman habit of snoring in three colors or by the predatory pinch bug, which is liable to land on a protruding toe just when everybody has dozed off.

Right Food Works Wonders

When one gets into trouble of this sort it's a fine thing to know how to get out of it. The "food route" is the common sense way back to health and comfort.

Grape-Nuts

FOOD

is made of wheat and barley, so perfectly cooked that it is partially pre-digested and contains the vital tissue-making elements required for the daily rebuilding of body and brain.

A dish of Grape-Nuts and cream for breakfast regularly, helps mightily to put one in mental and physical condition for the day's work.
